Blood Hunter

In a landscape tormented by all manner of beasts, devils, and abominations from beyond the veil, most live in fear of the dark, of superstition, and of the unknown. Some grow hardened by this experience, instead choosing to stand up and fight against the tide of shadow. These folk are called ‘heroes’.

Some, however, are so fanatical and bent on destroying the anathema that plagues the countryside that they embrace dark, forbidden knowledge. They sacrifice some of their own vital force in dubious, forgotten blood rituals to better understand their enemies. Their methods sometimes blur the line between themselves and the evils they hunt, calling their own humanity into question.

These folk are called ‘Blood Hunters’.

Become the Enemy to Understand the Enemy

These warriors have chosen to merge the martial pursuit of deadly weapon play with elements of vicious blood magic to create impressively effective combat techniques. They surrender their own vitality to form a bond with their weapon, allowing them to harness the elements in a whirlwind of dangerous strikes. Their deep knowledge and unnatural connection with wicked creatures allows them an advantage in tracking, hunting, and destroying even the most resilient of abhorrent fiends. By mastering control over their own lifeblood and the lifeblood of others, they gain insight into their foes and the ability to manipulate them from the inside. Some brew crude, poisonous alchemical tonics from the harvested organs of felled monsters, mutating their blood and bodies to be even further in tune with their quarry, becoming something other than human themselves. Others go further, reaching out and making a pact with lesser dark entities in hopes of using their grim gifts against greater evils. Many blood hunters push too far for their goals, falling to their own hubris and becoming the monsters they’ve chosen to hunt. This is the greatest fear of a blood hunter, and of the societies at large that shun them.

Almost as Feared as their Prey

The nature of their abilities and training has bred many rumors across the lands, some of which aren’t too far from the truth. Common folk consider them cursed, often turning them away at the door. Nobles see them as occasionally convenient, but a generally reviled nuisance. Mages find them useful allies if kept at arm’s length, while pious clerics and paladins keep their distance with a watchful eye. To be a blood hunter is to accept a life of solitude until proven trustworthy and dependable.

Creating a Blood Hunter

As you create your blood hunter, keep in mind how your character relates to society and why they have taken to a life of monster hunting. Do they wish to protect society and as such have paid the ultimate price? Do they have a family they wish to protect at all costs? Did they make a mistake that cost them greatly, and they wish to make amends for their folly? Or are they bent on vengeance for some past wound or loss that drove them to choose this dark warrior’s path?

While a blood hunter begins their journey alone, they also acknowledge the strength in numbers and the benefits of trusted companions. Many blood hunters keep allies to both ensure that they succeed at their hunts, and to keep a watchful eye to prevent them from losing touch with their humanity. A blood hunter without conviction is lost, and often an honest friend is enough to keep them from straying.

Quick Build

You can make a blood hunter quickly by following these suggestions. First, make Strength or Dexterity your highest ability score, depending on whether you want to focus on melee weapons, or ranged and finesse weapons. Make Wisdom your next highest if you plan to focus on the potency of blood curses and mystical power. Choose a higher Constitution next if you wish to use Crimson Rite on multiple weapons or want to have extra hit points to burn on amplifying blood curses.

Class Features

As a blood hunter, you gain the following class features.

Hit Points
- Hit Dice: 1d10 per blood hunter level
- Hit Points at 1st Level: 10 + your Constitution modifier
- Hit Points at Higher Levels: 1d10 (or 6) + your Constitution modifier per blood hunter level after 1st.

Proficiencies
- Armor: Light Armor, Medium Armor
- Weapons: Simple Weapons, Martial Weapons
- Tools: Alchemist’s supplies
- Saving Throws: Strength, Wisdom
- Skills: Choose two from Athletics, Acrobatics, Arcana, Insight, Investigation, and Survival.

Equipment

You start with the following equipment, in addition to the equipment granted by your background:

- (a) a martial weapon or (b) two simple weapons
- (a) a light crossbow or (b) hand crossbow
- (a) studded leather armor or (b) scale mail armor
- an explorer’s pack
Hunter’s Bane
Beginning at 1st level, you have survived the imbibing of the Hunter’s Bane, a poisonous alchemical concoction that alters your life’s blood, forever binding you to the darkness and honing your senses against it.

You have advantage on Wisdom (Survival) checks to track Fey, Fiends, and Undead, as well as on Intelligence checks to recall information about them. If you are actively tracking one of these creature types, you cannot be surprised by any creatures of that type. You can only be tracking one type of creature at a time.

Upon reaching 11th level, you gain advantage on Wisdom (Insight) checks and Charisma (Intimidation) checks as your unsettling nature further develops, lending you an edge when testing the composure and will of others.

Crimson Rite
At 1st level, you learn to invoke a rite of blood magic within your weapon at the cost of your own vitality. Choose to learn one rite from the Primal Rites list below. You cannot change this choice.

As a bonus action, you imbue a single weapon with the elemental energy of a known rite for up to 8 hours. While active, attacks from this weapon deal an additional 1d4 rite damage of the chosen elemental type. Rite damage is considered magical. The rite damage changes as you gain blood hunter levels, as shown in the crimson rite damage column of the blood hunter table. Should your weapon leave your grip, the rite fades immediately. An active rite on a weapon thrown fades directly after the attack is complete.

When a crimson rite is activated, it reduces your maximum hit points a number equal to your character level. These lost maximum hit points return once the rite fades and cannot be restored otherwise. When a rite fades, no hit points are regained as part of the restoring of maximum hit points.

Crimson rite can be used on multiple weapons, costing additional hit point loss. Most weapons can only be subject to a single rite at any given time. Polearms and quarterstaffs can benefit from a separate rite on each end of the weapon. A rite can be allowed to fade at any time (no action required).

You gain access to an additional Primal Rite at 6th level and 11th level. You may learn an Esoteric Rite at 14th level.

Primal Rites
Choose from the following:
- Rite of the Flame. Your rite damage is fire type.
- Rite of the Frozen. Your rite damage is cold type.
- Rite of the Storm. Your rite damage is lightning type.

Esoteric Rites
Choose from the following:
- Rite of the Roar. Your rite damage is thunder type.
- Rite of the Oracle. Your rite damage is psychic type.
- Rite of the Dead. Your rite damage is necrotic type.

Fighting Style
At 2nd level, you adopt a style of fighting as your specialty. Choose one of the following options. You can’t take a Fighting Style option more than once, even if you later get to choose again.

Archery
You gain a +2 bonus to attack rolls you make with ranged weapons.

Dueling
When you are wielding a melee weapon in one hand and no other weapons, you gain a +2 bonus to damage rolls with that weapon.

Great Weapon Fighting
When you roll a 1 or 2 on a non-rite damage die for an attack you make with a melee weapon that you are wielding with two hands, you can reroll the die and must use the new roll. The weapon must have the two-handed or versatile property for you to gain this benefit.

Two-Weapon Fighting
When you engage in two-weapon fighting, you can add your ability modifier to the damage of the second attack.

Blood Hunter Order
At 3rd level, you commit to an order of blood hunter martial focus. Choose Order of the Mutant, Order of the Ghostslayer, or Order of the Profane Soul, all detailed at the end of the class description. The order you choose grants you features at 3rd level, and again at 7th, 10th, 15th, and 18th level.

Ability Score Improvement
When you reach 4th level, and again at 8th, 12th, 16th and 19th level, you can increase one ability score of your choice by 2, or you can increase two ability scores of your choice by 1. As normal, you can’t increase an ability score above 20 using this feature.

Extra Attack
Beginning at 5th level, you can attack twice, instead of once, whenever you take the Attack action on your turn.

Blood Maledict
At 6th level, you gain the knowledge to further channel, and sacrifice, a part of your vital essence to curse and manipulate your enemies. You gain two blood curses of your choice, detailed in the “blood curses” section below. You learn one additional blood curse of your choice at 10th, 14th, and 18th level.
When you use your Blood Maledict, you choose which curse to invoke. While invoking a blood curse, but before it affects the target, you may choose to amplify the curse by suffering damage equal to your crimson rite damage die. An amplified curse gains an additional effect, noted in the curse’s description. Creatures that do not have blood in their bodies are immune to blood curses (DM’s discretion).

After you use this feature to invoke two blood curses, you must then finish a short or long rest to use your Blood Maledict to invoke your two blood curses again.

Beginning at 11th level, you can use your Blood Maledict to invoke three blood curses between rests, and beginning at 17th level, you can use it four times between rests. When you finish a short or long rest, you regain your expended uses.

Blood Curses

The blood curses are presented in alphabetical order.

Blood Curse of Binding. As a bonus action, you can attempt to bind an enemy no more than one size larger than you within 30 feet. The target must succeed on a Strength saving throw (DC equal to 8 + your proficiency bonus + your Wisdom modifier) or have their speed be reduced to 0 until the beginning of your next turn.

Amplify. This curse becomes ongoing, and can affect a creature no more than two sizes larger than you. At the end of each of its turns, the cursed can make another Strength saving throw. On a success, this curse ends. You can end the curse whenever you like (no action required).

Blood Curse of the Eyeless. As a bonus action, you can cloud the vision of a creature within 30 feet, imposing disadvantage on their next attack.

Amplify. The cursed suffers disadvantage on all of their attacks until the beginning of your next turn.

Blood Curse of the Fallen Puppet. The moment a creature falls unconscious or dies within 30 feet of you, you can use your reaction to give that creature a final act of aggression. That creature can immediately make a single weapon attack against a target of your choice within its attack range. After the attack, the creature returns to being unconscious or dead.

Amplify. You grant a bonus to the attack roll and damage roll of the cursed creature’s attack equal to your Wisdom modifier (minimum of 1).

Blood Curse of the Fending Rite. When an enemy casts a spell, you can use your reaction to deflect the spell with your crimson rite. You gain a bonus to the initial saving throw against that spell equal to your Wisdom Modifier (minimum of 1). This curse is invoked before the saving throw is rolled.

Amplify. You grant all allies within 5 feet of you this bonus to their saving throw against the triggering spell as well.

Blood Curse of the Marked. As a bonus action, you can mark an enemy within 30 feet. Until the end of your turn, all crimson rite damage you deal to the target is doubled.

Amplify. You cause the marked target to also lose resistance to your rite damage type until the beginning of your next turn.

Blood Curse of Mutual Suffering. As a bonus action, you can link to a creature within 30 feet, forcing them to share in any pain they inflict upon you. Each time the cursed creature damages you, this curse deals necrotic damage to the cursed creature equal to half of the damage you suffered. This curse lasts for a number of rounds equal to your Wisdom modifier (minimum 1).

Amplify. You double the duration of this curse, and this curse’s damage ignores Necrotic resistance.

Blood Curse of Spell Sunder. When an enemy casts a spell within 30 feet that requires a spell attack roll and targets you, you can use your reaction to rend the spell from the air, imposing disadvantage on the spell attack roll.

Amplify. You make a Wisdom ability check. The DC equals 10 + the spell’s level. On a success, the creature’s spell is dispelled entirely.

Blood Curse of the Transfusion. As a bonus action, you can curse your own vitality, tearing some of it forth and transferring it to an ally in need. You take 2d6 points of damage, and a living creature you choose within 30 feet regains a number of hit points equal to that amount plus your Wisdom modifier (minimum of 1). This damage increases as you gain levels: 3d6 at 11th level, and 4d6 at 17th level.

Amplify. Your target regains additional hit points equal to twice the amplify damage.

Grim Psychometry

When you reach 9th level, you can take 10 minutes to meditate on an object to discern vague details regarding any lingering evil or wicked past surrounding it. Make a Wisdom ability check. Based on the result, the DM may reveal obscure information about dark events that may have previously surrounded the object, or hints toward a sinister purpose. This feature has no effect on objects untouched by evil.

Dark Velocity

Upon reaching 11th level, you beckon the surrounding shadows to grant you unnatural swiftness on the battlefield. While in dim light or darkness, your movement increases by 10 feet, and attacks of opportunity made against you have disadvantage.

Hardened Soul

When you reach 14th level, you can no longer become Frightened, and you have advantage on saving throws against magical Charm effects.
ENDURING FORM
When you reach 17th level, while you are unconscious, you can spend two hit dice to reroll a death saving throw once per turn.

SANGUINE MASTERY
Upon becoming 20th level, your crimson rite is perfected, no longer requiring visceral sacrifice. When you have an active crimson rite, you no longer reduce your maximum hit points and you take no damage when amplifying blood curses. In addition, when you are below one fourth of your current maximum hit points and conscious, all of your crimson rite damage dice are maximized.

BLOOD HUNTER ORDERS
There are a handful of secretive orders of blood hunters that guard their cryptic techniques and blasphemous rituals. One must adhere to one of these orders to even be granted access to the Hunter’s Bane rite that starts their journey, and only once they’ve proven their ability will the secrets of the order begin to be revealed. Some even wait a few years before they are sure they want to continue down this cursed path. Either or, it’s within these small, enigmatic sects that the real power of a blood hunter is learned.

ORDER OF THE GHOSTSLAYER
The Order of the Ghostslayer is the oldest and most driven of the orders, having rediscovered the secrets of blood magic and refined them for combat against the scourge of undeath. Ghostslayers seek out and study the moment of death, obsessing over the mysteries of the transition. Some will sit with the terminally diseased to closely witness their passing, while others go so far as to deliberately have a near-death experience, allowing them to tune their body and senses to the ethereal realms beyond.

RITE OF THE DAWN
When you join this order at 3rd level, you learn the esoteric rite Rite of the Dawn (detailed below).

Rite of the Dawn. Your rite damage is radiant type.

If you hit an Undead creature with your Rite of the Dawn, it suffers additional radiant damage equal to your Wisdom modifier.

Upon reaching 10th level, any creature you hit with your Rite of the Dawn suffers this additional radiant damage.

HALLOWED VEINS
Beginning at 7th level, your blood curses become honed to the fabric of a creature’s essence. Your blood curses can now affect any creature, regardless of their form or lack of blood.

SUPERNAL SURGE
Upon reaching 10th level, at the beginning of your turn you can allow your body to take on a swift, ghostly form. Use of this feature costs no action. This effect lasts a number of rounds equal to your Wisdom modifier (minimum 1). While this surge lasts, you can make a single weapon attack as a bonus action on each of your turns.

In addition, you become spectral for the duration, allowing you to move through other creatures and objects as if they were difficult terrain. You take 1d10 force damage if you end your turn inside an object. If this surge ends while you are inside an object, you are immediately shunted to the nearest unoccupied space that you can occupy and take force damage equal to twice the number of feet you moved.

Once you use this feature, you must finish a short or long rest before you can use it again.

GRAVESIGHT
At 15th level, you can see in normal darkness, as well as see invisible creatures and objects, up to 60 feet.

VENGEFUL SPIRIT
Upon reaching 18th level, you learn to project your spirit to fight on while on the edge of death. Whenever your hit points drop to 0, you can choose to let your soul emerge from your body to fight on. Your body remains unconscious and subject to death saving throws per normal. At the beginning of your next turn, you manifest a spirit form in your space that picks up your weapons and continues fighting on, acting on your turn and every one of your subsequent turns under your control. Your spirit form has your physical attributes and armor class, as well as your weapons and ammunition, and can move through other creatures and objects as if they were difficult terrain. This form is immune to all non-magical damage and non-magical weapon damage. Your spirit form can only make the Move, Attack, Bonus (offhand attack), and Bonus (Crimson Rite) actions on your turn.

If your spirit form takes any damage, it immediately vanishes. If your body dies, your spirit form vanishes. If you regain any hit points, your spirit form vanishes. If your spirit form vanishes, it drops your weapons in its space.

ORDER OF THE PROFANE SOUL
The magics adopted by the wayward blood hunter prove formidable against many an evil across the realm. However, the darkest of abominations draw from an ancient well of cruel, unfathomable power. These terrors can control shadows to do their bidding, hide in plain sight among the noblest of nobles, and bend the minds of the most stalwart warrior with but a glance. These fiends are far trickier to hunt, and many lost their lives in pursuit of such wickedness.

A small sect of blood hunters had finally had enough and delved into this same well of corrupting arcane knowledge, making pacts with lesser evils to better combat the greater. While they may have lost a part of themselves, the power gained far outweighed the price, for even devils now quake when they know they’ve drawn the attention of the Order of the Profane Soul.

OTHERWORLDLY PATRON
When you reach 3rd level, you strike a bargain with an otherworldly being of your choice: the Archfey, the Fiend, or the Great Old One, each detailed on page 109 of the PHB. Your choice augments some of your order features.
When you reach 3rd level, you can augment your combat techniques with the ability to cast Warlock spells. See chapter 10 (phb) for the general rules of spellcasting and chapter 11 (phb) for the Warlock spell list.

Cantrics. You learn two cantrics of your choice from the Warlock spell list. You learn an additional Warlock cantric of your choice at 10th level.

Spell Slots. The Profane Soul Spellcasting table shows how many spell slots you have. The table also shows what the level of those slots is; all of your spell slots are the same level. To cast one of your Warlock spells of 1st level or higher, you must expend a spell slot. You regain all expended spell slots when you finish a short or long rest.

For example, when you are 8th level, you have two 2nd-level spell slots. To cast the 1st-level spell thunderwave, you must spend one of those slots, and you cast it as a 2nd-level spell.

Spells Known of 1st Level and Higher. At 3rd level, you know two 1st-level spells of your choice from the Warlock spell list.

The Spells Known column of the Profane table shows when you learn more Warlock spells of your choice of 1st level and higher. A spell you choose must be of a level no higher than what's shown in the table’s Slot Level column for your level. When you reach 11th level, for example, you learn a new Warlock spell, which can be 1st, 2nd, or 3rd level.

Additionally, when you gain a level in this class and order, you can choose one of the Warlock spells you know and replace it with another spell from the Warlock spell list, which also must be of a level for which you have spell slots.

Spellcasting Ability. Wisdom is your spellcasting ability for your Warlock spells, so you use your Wisdom whenever a spell refers to your spellcasting ability. In addition, you use your Wisdom modifier when setting the saving throw DC for a Warlock spell you cast and when making an attack roll with one.

Spell save DC = 8 + your proficiency bonus + your Wisdom modifier

Spell attack modifier = your proficiency bonus + your Wisdom modifier

Rite Focus. Beginning at 3rd level, your weapon becomes a core to your pact with your chosen dark patron. While you have an active rite, you can use your weapon as a spellcasting focus (found in chapter 5, player's handbook) for your Warlock spells. Your chosen pact also enhances your rite (outlined below).

The Archfey. If you deal rite damage to a creature, that creature loses any half or three-quarters cover bonuses, as well as invisibility, until the beginning of your next turn.

The Fiend. While using the Rite of the Flame, if you roll a 1 on your rite damage die, you may reroll the die. You may do this reroll only once per attack.

The Great Old One. Whenever you deal a critical hit to a creature, that creature must make a Wisdom saving throw against your spell save DC. On a failure, the creature is frightened of you until the end of your next turn.

Mystic Frenzy.

Beginning at 7th level, when you use your action to cast a cantrip, you can make one weapon attack as a bonus action.

Revealed Arcana.

At 7th level, your dark patron grants you the rare use of a dangerous arcane spell based on your pact.

The Archfey. You can cast blur once using a Warlock spell slot. You can’t do so again until you finish a long rest.

The Fiend. You can cast scorching ray once using a Warlock spell slot. You can’t do so again until you finish a long rest.

The Great Old One. You can cast detect thoughts once using a Warlock spell slot. You can’t do so again until you finish a long rest.

Diabolic Channel.

At 10th level, you can temporarily infuse your rite with the seed of a powerful spell. As an action, you can imbue your rite-enhanced weapon with one spell you can cast or is already active, then make a single attack with that weapon.

If that attack hits, all spell attack rolls for the imbued spell hit automatically. The target takes weapon damage, and is subject to the effects of the spell, expending a spell slot accordingly. If the attack has advantage, the target’s initial saving throw against the spell has disadvantage. If the attack misses, the spell has no effect. Area spells originate from the target’s space.

The spell must be of 1st level or higher, have a casting time of 1 action, or require an action to activate an already active concentration spell.

Unsealed Arcana.

At 15th level, your dark patron grants you the rare use of an additional arcane spell based on your pact.

The Archfey. You can cast slow once using a Warlock spell slot. You can’t do so again until you finish a long rest.
The Fiend. You can cast fireball once using a Warlock spell slot. You can’t do so again until you finish a long rest.

The Great Old One. You can cast haste once using a Warlock spell slot. You can’t do so again until you finish a long rest.

Soul Syphon

When you reach 18th level, you learn to sacrifice the souls of powerful foes to your dark patron in exchange for immediate power. When you reduce a creature to 0 hit points with an attack, kill the creature, and they have a challenge rating of 15 or above, you recover an expended spell slot.

---

Order of the Mutant

The process of consuming the Hunter’s Bane is a painful, scarring, and often fatal experience. Those that survive find themselves irrevocably changed, enhanced. Some found this experience exhilarating, embracing the ability to alter one’s own physiology through corrupted alchemy.

Over generations of experimentation, a splinter order of blood hunters began to emerge, one that focused on brewing toxic elixirs to modify their capabilities in battle, altering their blood and, over time become something beyond human. They called themselves the Order of the Mutant.

Formulas

You begin to uncover forbidden alchemical formulas that temporarily alter your mental and physical abilities.

Beginning at 3rd level, you choose to learn three mutagen formulas. Your formula options are detailed at the end of this order description. You gain an additional formula at 7th level, 10th level, 15th level, and 18th level.

Additionally, when you gain a new mutagen formula, you can choose one of the formulas you already know and replace it with another mutagen formula.

Mutagen Craft

At 3rd level, you can take a short rest to concoct a single mutagen. Consuming a single mutagen requires a bonus action, and the effects (including side effects) last until you take a short or long rest to meditate and flush the toxins from your system.

Mutagens are designed for your biology. They have no effect on large or larger creatures, and only impart the side effects on other medium or smaller creatures that drink the entire mutagen. They are also unstable by nature, losing their potency over time and becoming inert if not swallowed before you finish your next short or long rest.

Your body will begin to better utilize the toxins you instill it with as you grow in power and experience. These advancing mutations may be signified by a Mutation score.

Mutation Score = your blood hunter level divided by 4, rounded up.

Advanced Mutagen Craft

Upon reaching 7th level, when you take a short rest to concoct a mutagen, you can now create two. Mutagens must be different formulas, and can be ingested with overlapping effects that last until you finish your next short or long rest. Each mutagen still takes a separate bonus action to imbibe.

Once you reach 15th level, you can now create three mutagens during a short rest.

Robust Physiology

At 10th level, your body has begun to adapt to toxins and venoms, ignoring their corroding effects. You gain immunity to poison damage and the poisoned condition.

Strange Metabolism

Beginning at 15th level, you’ve become resistant to the negative effects of some of your own mutagens. Upon imbibing a mutagen, you can choose to ignore the side effect of that mutagen for its duration.

Once you use this feature, you must finish a short or long rest before you can use it again.

Exalted Mutation

At 18th level, your body has begun producing one of your toxins naturally. Choose one of your known mutagen formulas. You gain the benefits and side effects of this mutagen permanently, at all times. This effect cannot be altered or ignored by your strange metabolism feature. You cannot change this choice of formula after this feature is acquired.

Mutagens

These mutagens are presented in alphabetical order. You can learn a mutagen at the same time you meet its prerequisites.

- Aether. Prerequisite: 10th level. You gain a flying speed of 20 feet. Side effect: You have disadvantage on all Strength and Dexterity ability checks.

- Celerity. Your Dexterity score increases by an amount equal to your mutation score, as does your Dexterity maximum. Side effect: Your Wisdom score decreases by an amount equal to your mutation score.

- Conversant. You gain advantage on Intelligence ability checks. Side effect: You have disadvantage on Charisma ability checks.

- Cruelty. Prerequisite: 10th level. You gain an additional action on each of your turns. That action can be used only to take the Attack (one weapon attack only) action. Side effect: You have disadvantage on all saving throws.

- Impermeable. You gain resistance to piercing damage. Side effect: You gain vulnerability to slashing damage.
